2. All managers are responsible for ensuring that all employees, agents, contractors, or other parties working on behalf of the Company comply with this Policy and, where applicable, must implement such practices, processes, controls, and training as are reasonably necessary to ensure such compliance.

3. Any questions relating to this Policy, the Company's collection, processing, or holding of personal data, or to the Data Protection Legislation should be referred to the Data Protection Officer.

4. The Data Protection Principles

The Data Protection Legislation sets out the following principles with which any party handling personal data must comply. All personal data must be:

1. processed lawfully, fairly, and in a transparent manner in relation to the data subject;
2. collected for specified, explicit, and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes. Further processing for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes shall not be considered to be incompatible with the initial purposes;
3. adequate, relevant, and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which it is processed;
4. accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date. Every reasonable step must be taken to ensure that personal data that is inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which it is processed, is erased, or rectified without delay;
5. kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data is processed. Personal data may be stored for longer periods insofar as the personal data will be processed solely for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes, or statistical purposes, subject to implementation of the appropriate technical and organisational measures required by the Data Protection Legislation in order to safeguard the rights and freedoms of the data subject;
6. processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction, or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures.

5. The Rights of Data Subjects

The Data Protection Legislation sets out the following key rights applicable to data subjects:

1. The right to be informed;
2. the right of access;
3. the right to rectification;
4. the right to erasure (also known as the 'right to be forgotten');
5. the right to restrict processing;
6. the right to data portability;
7. the right to object; and
8. rights with respect to automated decision-making and profiling.

6. Lawful, Fair, and Transparent Data Processing

1. The Data Protection Legislation seeks to ensure that personal data is processed lawfully, fairly, and transparently, without adversely affecting the rights of the data subject. Specifically, the GDPR states that processing of personal data shall be lawful if at least one of the following applies:
 - a) the data subject has given consent to the processing of their personal data for one or more specific purposes;
 - b) the processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is a party, or in order to take steps at the request of the data subject prior to entering into a contract;
 - c) the processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which the data controller is subject;
 - d) the processing is necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or of another natural person;
 - e) the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the data controller; or
 - f) the processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the data controller or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject which require protection of personal data, in particular where the data subject is a child.

7. Consent

If consent is relied upon as the lawful basis for collecting, holding, and/or processing personal data, the following shall apply:

1. Consent is a clear indication by the data subject that they agree to the processing of their personal data. Such a clear indication may take the form of a statement or a positive action. Silence, pre-ticked boxes, or inactivity are unlikely to amount to consent.
2. Where consent is given in a document which includes other matters, the section dealing with consent must be kept clearly separate from such other matters.
3. Data subjects are free to withdraw consent at any time and it must be made easy for them to do so. If a data subject withdraws consent, their request must be honoured promptly.
4. If personal data is to be processed for a different purpose that is incompatible with the purpose or purposes for which that personal data was originally collected that was not disclosed to the data subject when they first provided their consent, consent to the new purpose or purposes may need to be obtained from the data subject.
5. In all cases where consent is relied upon as the lawful basis for collecting, holding, and/or processing personal data, records must be kept of all consents obtained in order to ensure that the Company can demonstrate its compliance with consent requirements.

8. Specified, Explicit, and Legitimate Purposes

1. The Company collects and processes the personal data. This includes personal data collected directly from data subjects.
2. The Company only collects, processes, and holds personal data for the specific purposes of performing services to its customers (or for other purposes expressly permitted by the Data Protection Legislation).
3. Data subjects must be kept informed at all times of the purpose or purposes for which the Company uses their personal data.

9. Adequate, Relevant, and Limited Data Processing

1. The Company will only collect and process personal data for and to the extent necessary for the specific purpose or purposes of which data subjects have been informed (or will be informed) as under Part 8, above.
2. Employees, agents, contractors, or other parties working on behalf of the Company may collect personal data only to the extent required for the performance of their job duties and only in accordance with this Policy. Excessive personal data must not be collected.
3. Employees, agents, contractors, or other parties working on behalf of the Company may process personal data only when the performance of their job duties requires it. Personal data held by the Company cannot be processed for any unrelated reasons.

1. The Company shall ensure that all personal data collected, processed, and held by it is kept accurate and up-to-date. This includes, but is not limited to, the rectification of personal data at the request of a data subject, as set out in Part 17, below.
2. The accuracy of personal data shall be checked when it is collected and at regular intervals thereafter. If any personal data is found to be inaccurate or out-of-date, all reasonable steps will be taken without delay to amend or erase that data, as appropriate.

11. Data Retention

1. The Company shall not keep personal data for any longer than is necessary in light of the purpose or purposes for which that personal data was originally collected, held, and processed.
2. When personal data is no longer required, all reasonable steps will be taken to erase or otherwise dispose of it without delay.

2. Anyone wishing to make a SAR should do so using a Subject Access Request Form, sending the form to the Company's Data Protection Officer at rob@sports-xtra.com.
3. Responses to SARs must normally be made within one month of receipt, however, this may be extended by up to two months if the SAR is complex and/or numerous requests are made. If such additional time is required, the data subject shall be informed.

4. All SARs received shall be handled by the Company's Data Protection Officer.
5. The Company does not charge a fee for the handling of normal SARs. The Company reserves the right to charge reasonable fees for additional copies of information that has already been supplied to a data subject, and for requests that are manifestly unfounded or excessive, particularly where such requests are repetitive.

16. Rectification of Personal Data

1. Data subjects have the right to require the Company to rectify any of their personal data that is inaccurate or incomplete.
2. The Company shall rectify the personal data in question, and inform the data subject of that rectification, within one month of the data subject informing the Company of the issue. The period can be extended by up to two months in the case of complex requests. If such additional time is required, the data subject shall be informed.
3. In the event that any affected personal data has been disclosed to third parties, those parties shall be informed of any rectification that must be made to that personal data.

 - d) the personal data has been processed unlawfully;
 - e) the personal data needs to be erased in order for the Company to comply with a particular legal obligation;
2. Unless the Company has reasonable grounds to refuse to erase personal data, all requests for erasure shall be complied with, and the data subject informed of the erasure, within one month of receipt of the data subject's request. The period can be extended by up to two months in the case of complex requests. If such additional time is required, the data subject shall be informed.
3. In the event that any personal data that is to be erased in response to a data subject's request has been disclosed to third parties, those parties shall be informed of the erasure (unless it is impossible or would require disproportionate effort to do so).

18. Restriction of Personal Data Processing

1. Data subjects may request that the Company ceases processing the personal data it holds about them. If a data subject makes such a request, the Company shall retain only the amount of personal data concerning that data subject (if any) that is necessary to ensure that the personal data in question is not processed further.
2. In the event that any affected personal data has been disclosed to third parties, those parties shall be informed of the applicable restrictions on processing it (unless it is impossible or would require disproportionate effort to do so).

Any and all evidence relating to the personal data breach in question should be carefully retained.
3. If a personal data breach occurs and that breach is likely to result in a risk to the rights and freedoms of data subjects (e.g. financial loss, breach of confidentiality, discrimination, reputational damage, or other significant social or economic damage), the Data Protection Officer must ensure that the Information Commissioner's Office is informed of the breach without delay, and in any event, within 72 hours after having become aware of it.
4. In the event that a personal data breach is likely to result in a high risk (that is, a higher risk than that described under Part 21.3) to the rights and freedoms of data subjects, the Data Protection Officer must ensure that all affected data subjects are informed of the breach directly and without undue delay.
